ELIMINATION OF RUSS DIPLOMATIC SERVICE IN CHINA PROPOSED

Peking Receives Mission Of Far Eastern Republic And Ministry Approves Credentials; Foreign Office Wants Present Agents Cease Functioning While Envoy Is Said To Be Willing To Yield

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

PEKING, September 17.—That the Russian diplomatic and Consular services in China should cease functioning is the suggestion made unofficially by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs to the Russian Legation in Peking. The suggestion was made on the ground that the bona fide representatives of the Russian Government in the personnel of the mission from Verdhne-Udinsk, headed by Yourin, has arrived; and that the present services are longer representative.

The Yourin mission, which has been negotiating with China on trade relations, has made decided progress with the Foreign Office. As a result, the Russian Legation is informed of the new attitude towards the former Russian officials here.

Prince N. A. Koudacheff, the Russian Minister, is considering the acquiscence of the communique of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs being carried by Reuters.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 16.—The following Government communique was issued this evening:

In view of the contemplated or actual resumption of commercial intercourse with Russia by most of the Powers of Europe and America, it behoves the Chinese Government to follow the tendency of recent international events, and to act in accord with the attitude of her associates in the late war.

In view of the chaos in Siberia and the inability of the old-Russian official representatives in China to carry out the functions for which they are responsible, the adoption of some modus vivendi is immediately and urgently necessary to regulate to some extent the trade relations of the two countries, particularly along the frontiers, and to protect Chinese citizens and their interests in Siberia.

DELEGATION RECEIVED

Meanwhile representatives of the Far-Eastern Republic headed by Yourin, were asking China's permission to proceed to Peking to negotiate on the same subject. The mission, as China was assured, had no other purpose but to deal with commercial matters. Permission to come to Peking was granted several months ago.

On their arrival the new minister of Foreign Affairs was repeatedly asked to grant them a personal interview. Dr. Yen did not see his way to accede to the request, as he was not fully informed as to the nature of their credentials from the Government of the territory they represented, etc. However, a Councillor of the ministry was deputed to receive them informally, with a view to ascertaining the points enumerated above.

BOLSHEVISM BARRED

The meeting took place on Friday, September 10. Their credentials seemed good. Furthermore, they assured the Chinese representative that they represent the consolidated government at Verdhne-Udinsk, covering the whole Russian Far-Eastern territory, consisting of Verdhne-Udinsk, Vladivostok, Blagoveschensk, etc., and that, as desired by the Chinese Government, telegrams to the same effect would be sent from the same places direct to the Chinese Ministry, confirming their assurances.

It is understood that, the preliminaries being thus disposed of, the Chinese Government further requires the Russian representatives to give certain guarantees before entering into the discussion of trade matters, of which the first and most important is that no Bolshevist propaganda shall be undertaken in any part of China.

Germans Resume Instruction For Prussian Army

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 16.—The Times Berlin correspondent states that the famous Prussian cadet school at Grosslichterfelde, near Berlin, which was closed in accordance with the Peace Treaty, has been reopened, and is being conducted upon pre-war lines, when it was the principal nursery for Prussian officers.

German Army teachers are again lecturing, pre-war history text-books are being used, and the old order has been completely restored, excepting in regard to uniforms.

The correspondent points out that this reopening would be impossible without the connivance of the State.

He has also despatched large forces of troops to Batung and Ichang on the Yangtsze River to strengthen his defense.

TROOPS ARE INACTIVE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, September 16.—The Military Government reports that there is no fighting in the Waichow district.

General Li Kan-yuan's army from Kiungchow consisting of 8,000 Yunnanese troops, is being sent to the East River.

It is understood that General Chen Chiung-ming intends to attack Canton by another route than Waichow. There are two American, three British and two Japanese Gunboats in Canton harbor.

The price of rice and other foodstuffs is rising in Canton, owing to the interruption of river traffic by the military operations and brigandage.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE IS TO QUIT OFFICE

Forgetfulness Induced By Fall From Train, Is Latest News Received

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 16.—With reference to the reported impending resignation of M. Deschanel, the French President, it may be said that since the recent accident in which he fell from a train, the President has suffered from serebral anaemia which induces forgetfulness.

He has intimated his intention of resigning, and it is anticipated that as soon as his formal letter of resignation is in the hands of M. Millerand, both Houses will be called together in Congress for the election of a successor. M. Millerand has declared that he will not stand for the presidency.

PROBABLE SUCCESSOR

Paris, Sept. 16.—The Echo de Paris says that M. Millerand's candidate for the Presidency is M. Jonnart, ex-Governor of Algeria. The only opposing candidate will be M. Kaoul Peret, the President of the Chamber of Deputies.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT

London, Sept. 16.—The Daily Express Paris correspondent states that the sudden rush of the Minister of the Interior to Aix-les-Bains to consult M. Millerand was due to an incident which occurred on Friday at Rambouillet.

He said President Deschanel was wandering in the grounds of the Chateau, unattended, when he fell into a lily pond, where he remained some considerable time. Eventually he was found and dragged out in an exhausted condition by a gardener. A severe nervous attack followed.

RICE UP AGAIN; PRICE HIT $16 MARK YESTERDAY

Despite of the efforts of the Rice Guild in Nantao to place the maximum price of rice at $14 per picul, which is twice the normal figure, the price of rice yesterday soarer to the $16.20 figure the highest yet recorded. The soaring is made all the more surprising especially when the harvest is not considered bad and a favorable outlook is anticipated.

Death Of Tisza Is Reviewed By Budapest Court

RUSSIAN JEWELS USED IN ATTEMPT TO BRIBE HERALD

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 15.—A number of newspapers declare that part of the £75,000 which was offered to the Daily Herald through Mr. Meynell one of its directors, has been obtained by the sale of Russian Jewels.

Bank-notes paid in purchase of these jewels have, it is alleged, been traced back to Mr. Meynell, and also to Mr. George Lansbury, son of the editor of the Herald.

London, Sept. 15.—Further light is thrown on the realisation of Russian jewels in England in a statement issued this evening from Downing Street. This gives the lie direct to several of the assertions made by M. Kameneff in his letter, the gist of which has been cabled.

KAMENEFF ACCUSED

The Government says it has evidence that M. Kameneff was actively concerned in the realisation of jewels, and he informed the Soviet that £40,000 worth had been sold and the proceeds handed to the Daily Herald. Furthermore, he reported that he was taking steps to procure a further £60,000—partly from jewels—of which an additional £10,000 would be paid to the Herald.

Referring to M. Kameneff's denial that he ever offered the Herald, a subsidy, and the denial which the latter published on August 20, to the effect that it had not received a sou, the Government says it has evidence flatly contradicting both statements.

The Government, reviewing the Daily Herald's denials on the subject, says that it has evidence that Mr. Edgar Lansbury, son of the editor of that journal, had received part of the notes, given for the jewels, at the time the Daily Herald was encouraging an affirmative reply to its question: "Shall we take £75,000 of Russian money?"

DOUBT EXPRESSED

The Government says that it permits itself to doubt whether the Daily Herald would have taken the public into its confidence in this matter but for the fact that it was aware Mr. Edgar Lansbury had been invited by the police to explain how he came to possess some notes, forming part of the price realised by the sale of the Russian jewels.

The statement proceeds to point out that M. Kameneff does not attempt to deny that he deliberately altered the terms of the despatch from the Soviet, containing the Polish armistice condition to the effect that they would insist "on arming the Polish workers under the control of representatives of the trade-unions of Russia, Poland and Norway."

INTENTION CONCEALED

FUND TO CHECK FAMINE REACHES TOTAL $1,600,000

Association Formed To Give Relief Planning General Meeting September 25

Subscriptions amounting to $1,600,000 in aid of China's starving millions in the vast famine belt that has spread over the seven northern provinces were reported at last night's meeting of the Committee of the Seven Provinces Famine Relief Association, the organisation that was formed here a week ago to meet the desperate need that has arisen out of the failure of northern crops.

Of the sum given, $1,000,000 was pledged by two groups of Chinese bankers, the 'old group' and the 'new group,' so-called, and by a number of Chinese cotton, flour and iron merchants. The Sheng (Kung Pao) family pledged the sum of $400,000 and the Manager of the Commercial Bank of China, Mr. Fu Hsiao-en, $100,000. These subscriptions with a single subscription of $100,000, the first made, from Mr. Chiu Wei-ching, Chinese dye merchant, bring the total so far achieved to $1,600,000.

$5,000,000 WANTED

The sum that the Seven Provinces Famine Relief Association plans to raise has not been fixed, but members of the executive body believe that a minimum of $5,000,000 that was mentioned will quickly be passed.

The association is planning to hold a great public meeting, for both foreigners and Chinese, to be held a week from today at a place not yet designated. It is intended to have present at this representatives of all Chinese organisations and guilds of Shanghai and also representatives of all the larger foreign bodies including the American and British Chambers of Commerce and the American Association of China.

It was announced yesterday that Chinese bankers of the city had voluntarily proposed to advance money needed for immediate relief work and this, in connection with conditions laid down by certain subscribers, insures that the work of providing aid—from Shanghai—will begin at once.

CONDITIONS STATED

In connection with the subscription of $1,000,000 from the banking groups with the iron, flour and cotton merchants it is provided that the money is to be expended in the province of Chihli, not in the form of direct donations, but in payment for labor. This insures employment with pay for the inhabitants of stricken districts.

The $400,000 subscription from from the Sheng family is to be used in accordance with conditions imposed by the subscribers in the province of Shantung. A condition made by Mr. Fu Hsiao-en in connection with his $100,000 subscription is that the money must be used immediately.

WORLD'S MONEY SYSTEM CHECKED BY EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITERS' BOMB

Twelve Persons Known To Be Dead And More Victims Feared; House Of Morgan Converted Into Hospital And Morgue When World's Financial Center Is Involved

(U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, Sept. 16.—Arteries of American finance were paralysed today w en a dynamite outrage wrecked the heart of the world's money system—Wall Street.

Twelve persons are known to be dead, scores of others are injured, the House of Morgan has been converted into a hospital and the nation's business is at a standstill.

That the outrage was a deliberate attack of radicals against the money kings of America is the belief of the district attorney, who at once started an invest gation, and rumors that the destruction was the result of an accident are given no credence whatever.

Discovery of a box, about one foot square and bound with wire, has led to the belief that a band of dynamiters caused the disaster.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE

The box proved to be an infernal machine equipped with a lever and two alarm clocks timed to cause an explosion at 4:30 o'clock. It is supposed that the intention of the outlaws was to follow the first outrage, which happened at the moment when throngs of office workers were hurrying through the streets, with a second. Prompt action of the authorities, however, prevented the further catastrophe.

The explosion shattered windows and damaged skyscrapers in the heart of the great financial district, the bodies of men, women and children were found on the pavement and a number of horses, attached to carriages, were found lying in the street. Property damage was estimated at more than $2,500,000.

The governors of the Stock Exchange ordered the closing of the market, but announced that it would be re-opened tomorrow.

When the bomb was exploded there were thousands of persons in the immediate vicinity. It was a rush hour and the fact that the reported death list is so small is regarded as miraculous. It is feared that more names will be added when a more thorough investigation is made.

DISTRICT GUARDED

A heavy guard was thrown around the district by the police as soon as they arrived on the scene, a short time after the loud report was heard, and investigators were assigned to their task. In the meantime the work of first aid proceeded promptly.

The House of Morgan was converted into an Emergency Hospital as was also the building of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The buildings were also used as morgues and it was there that relatives of the victims proceeded to identify the victims of the disaster.

Several clues to the identity of the perpetrators of the outrage are in the hands of the authorities and arrests are expected at any moment.

In the opinion of financial leaders and officials of the various banking institutions here it is not thought that any effect of the catastrophe in Wall street will be felt in Shanghai, though it is possible that some delay may be occasioned in connection with a few pending transactions that may be dealt with by banking houses in the explosion area.

It was reported in connection with the bomb explosion that an official of the New York branch of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation had been one of the explosion victims, but this could not be authenticated. Later it was said that it was a clerk in the employ of the New York branch of this bank that had been injured.

Government Control Of Prices Needed To End Coal Crisis, Says Herald

Discrepancy Between Export And Domestic Prices Is Bar To Decontrol, Says Article Regarded As Inspired

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 15.—In regard to the coal crisis, the Daily Herald, yesterday morning gave prominence to what appeared to be an inspired statement, declaring that the question of the decontrol of prices was a fundamental obstacle to any negotiation, because it was considered that decontrol would send up domestic prices. Therefore, the Government could point the way to negotiations by giving a pledge, which had hitherto not been forthcoming, that prices would not be decontrolled.

With reference to the foregoing, the Prime Minister this morning issued the following statement:

PRICES ARE BAR

"It is the considered policy of the Government gradually to free the coal industry from Government control, but as long as the present discrepancy continues between the export price and the home price (which is regulated by the cost of production) it is impossible for the Government to abandon the control of the price of coal at the pit-head.

"Until the export price approximates much more closely to the home price it is the intention of the Government to retain some form of control of pit-head prices and of the quantity allowed for export, in order that the coal required for domestic and industrial consumption may be afforded at a reasonable price.

"The Government has always recognised that trade union organisation is vital to the interests of Labor, and it has consistently accepted the principle that trade unions should represent the interests of their members in the whole industrial field.

ATTITUDE OF UNIONS

"In all questions affecting wages and conditions of labor in the mining industry, the right of the Federation to speak and negotiate on behalf of its members has never been questioned.

"But if a trade union or any section of the community attempts to usurp the functions committed to the Government by the whole body of the people, such a claim must unhesitatingly be resisted. It is those who make such a claim, not those who resist it, who imperial the record, the position and the work of the trade unions."

HENDERSON CONFIDENT

London, Sept. 15.—Mr. Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor party, interviewed regarding the coal crisis, said he was confident that peace was still possible.

Meanwhile official figures from the South Wales coal field—usually regarded as an extremist center—show that less than 50 percent of the miners there have tendered strike notices. In some districts the apathy shown towards the strike is most pronounced.

London, Sept. 15.—At a conclusion of the meeting of the Miners' Executive this evening, Mr Hodges, the secretary, announced that a full delegate conference of coal-miners would be held on Sept. 21 and that the Executive Council would interview Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labor, tomorrow.

Italian Workmen Are Supported By Seamen In Seizure Of Plants

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 16.—A Milan telegram reports that, in spite of last week's decision of the Labor Federation, which was represented as a victory for the moderates, the economic crisis has taken a fresh and grave turn. The seizure of factories on a vast scale continues, and they include the Canton cotton mills which employ 6,000 hands; also Italy's principal woollen mills at Biella. Moreover the land-filching movement is extending among the peasants of Sicily and the Roman Campagna.

Graver still is the decision of the Seamen's Federation to give the metallurgical works all the cargoes of raw material which are "not distinctly labelled with the names of the real persons to whom they are consigned," while the railwaymen have decided henceforth to hand over all merchandise and raw material in transit to the metal-workers.

London, Sept. 16.—A telegram from Genoa states that the Government has completed the installation of batteries on the heights overlooking Genoa, and trained guns upon the factories, whose occupants have retaliated by hoisting red flags and black flags.

Turin, Sept. 16.—Signor Giolitti, the Premier, has received representatives of the masters and men of the metallurgical industry. Conversations are proceeding.

Tokio, Sept. 16.—Mr. Kaichiro Imaisumi, head of the new Submarine School, states that Japan is building numbers of submarines, in view of their great usefulness in warfare, thus necessitating the establishment of a school for the exclusive training of officers and men for these craft. Pending the building of the school, the battleship Shikishima is being used as the instruction headquarters.

The Government is reported to be contemplating eventually nationalising hydro-electricity, and also establishing a sugar monopoly, in view of the huge dividends now being paid by sugar companies, ranging to over 100 percent. Lack of funds, however, prevents the immediate carrying out of these projects.

The Kokumin reports that over 700 Osaka textile works have closed down as the result of the depression, and that 50,000 people are idle.

The Navy Office is establishing armament and fuel bureaus, the latter in view of the paramount importance of securing a fuel supply commensurate with the growth of the Navy.

London, September 16.—A New York telegram states that a company which has secured from the American Post Office mail contracts to the value of £140,000 is building aircraft which are described as "flying palaces," with standard sleeping-berths, shower-baths and all modern conveniences. They will accomodate 16 passengers and 1,500 lbs. of mails.

He says there is no unrest at Nikolaievsk, whence the Japanese are withdrawing this month. He expects some partisan outbreaks will take place thereafter. The Japanese troops are remaining at Alexandrovsky.

"Paid In Full"

There was a full house to hear the Frawley Company in the above play last night, and judging from the applause the caste was right in its presentation of this strong drama by Eugene Walter.

It is a play full of dramatic situations and the interest was well sustained right up to the final curtain.

Once again we would remind the Shanghai playgoer that it is neither necessary nor courteous to drift into the theater ten minutes after the play has begun; it is very unfair to the company and does not add to the enjoyment of the audience.

Miss Vera Doria was excellent as "Mrs. Brooks" and gave a fine interpretation of her part as the well-bred wife of a stuggling business man, but next time she bemoans her hard fate in having to wear cracked shoes, we would suggest that she does not come on the stage in a Natty Pair of Glossy patents, which look as though they were being worn for the first time. Mr. Frawley was delightful as the cheerful American, who is blessed with a good digestion, and is all out to help the girl to whom he had proposed, but who married the other Man.

The third outstanding part was taken by Mr. Henry Crosby and he was so good in the role of Capt. Williams, that one felt the struggle of a mean and hard man in doing a fine and generous action.

To sum up, it was a strong play, well acted.

Tonight: "The Man Who Came Back."

MAINE BEATS DEMOCRATS BY RECORD BALLOT

Republican Candidate Is Elected As Governor By Big Majority

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Sept. 15.—The Maine elections have resulted in the return of the Republican candidate for the Governorship by an overwhelming majority.

This is a smashing blow to the Democrats, and is the worst drubbing they have ever had in Maine. The Democrats hoped to reduce the Republicans' majority to below 20,000, whereas the Republican Governor was elected by a margin of 60,000 votes.

A remarkable feature of the disclosures is the obvious excellence of the Government's investigatory agencies which enabled it to be kept closely informed of the whereabouts of the jewels, to whom they were disposed of, how particular notes given in payment had been traced through various hands and of the secret contents of the Soviet Government's messages to the delegation in England.

London, Sept. 16.—The Daily Herald, in answer to the Government disclosures yesterday evening as to the source of the money offered to the paper, reiterates its former assertion that if had no knowledge of any deal in diamonds or of any proposed subsidy until the 6th inst.

It declares that the Herald is not on its defense, and that acceptance of the subsidy would not have been dishoncrable, because Great Britain has been technically at peace with Russia since 1855. It concludes: "As it happens, we have not accepted the offer."

Pootung Electric Company Doubles Size Of Plant

The application for the formation of the Pootung Electric Supply Company was granted in February, 1919, by the Ministry of Communications and in October last the company was registered at the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce. It is a purely Chinese concern with a capital of $200,000, which has now been fully paid up.

The power station is situated at the mouth of Chang Ka Pang, and the office at 10 Chingkiang Road, Pootung Point, Pootung. The plant, which consists of two sets of 3-phase A. C. Generators with 150 k.v.a. capacity each, is in course of erection and will be ready for service shortly.

In view of the ever-increasing demand for a supply of electricity, the board of directors adopted last March a resolution to place a duplicate order for the above plant, which is expected to arrive here next February.

Mr. S. H. Dong is one of the heaviest shareholders of the company, and has been elected Engineer-in-chief and General Manager by the Directors, with Mr. K. W. Chang as Sub-Manager. Mr. Dong is said to possess considerable experience in electrical enterprises, being managing-director of The Nanking Electric Works a few years ago after his graduation from the Tokio Higher Technical College.

The Stately Homes of England

Have you ever wandered through one of those old Elizabethan Manors, of which England is so proud? Did you notice the black, lustrous panelling, dooring and stairs? Did it not strike you as curious that the wooden beams in the outhouses had outlasted the stone of which the walls were built? The colour of the wood made you curious to know what stain had been used on it? "Time" imparted that wonderful tone to the wood, and all the base counterfeiters of the craftsmanship of a bygone age have never succeeded in producing an imitation which would deceive a babe. The Wood was Oak, the wood which we suggest you should use for your new floor or panelling.

WE SUPPLY OAK FOR FLOORING, WAINSCOTING, PANELLING, ETC., ETC., KILN-DRIED AND QUALITY GUARANTEED

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid out and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing, and we prefer to do this for you.

Strike Of Electricians Is Settled By Britains

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 16.—The London electricians' dispute has been settled.

Representatives of the employers and of the electrical trades unions, at a meeting this afternoon, decided that work shall be resumed as soon as possible.

The settlement of the electricians dispute was the direct outcome of a resolution adopted by the National Joint Industrial Council for the Electricity supply industry.

The Council recommended that in consequence of the Electrical Trades Union having intimated its readiness to the Council to withdraw the question of principle involved in the demand that foremen must be members of the Union, the Engineering Employers' Federation should withdraw the lock-out notices and the men should resume work immediately.

London, September 15.—There are only three more days in which to find a solution of the electricians' dispute, with a view to securing the withdrawal of the strike notices which some 20,000 employes have given for Saturday. Failing such a solution, the stoppage of London's electric light supply, and its tube and tramway traffic is threatened. The Court of inquiry appointed to investigate the dispute held its first sitting yesterday, but yielded little hope of an amicable settlement.

Meanwhile a conference of London's local authorities has been convened for tomorrow for the purpose of discussing the possibility of averting the disruption of public services.

GIVE NOTICE

Yesterday the electricians in Manchester gave notice of their intention to strike on the 21st inst., and this would cause the stoppage of trams, electric trains, and many big industries. Most of the large towns throughout the country are expected to follow Manchester's example.

London, Sept. 16.—The invitation sent by the miners' Executive to Sir Robert Horne to meet them today (which has met with a prompt response) is regarded as a definite peace overture, as the purpose of any further interview must be a desire to make another attempt to find a basis of settlement.

Although the path to a compromise which would satisfy both sides is strewn with difficulties, fresh hope lies in the belief that the miners are shifting their position as regards the indivisibility of their two claims. In this connection it is noteworthy that Mr. Smillie, in a full statement of the miners' case, has for the first time placed the wages claim in the foreground.

TEN DAYS LEEWAY

There are only ten days before the strike becomes operative, and, according to the rules of the Federation, a fresh ballot is necessary to nullify the decision to strike, although the Miners' Executive can postpone the strike notices.

Dublin Placarded With Anti-Republican Bills

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 15.—Dublin was placarded this morning with posters declaring that only by the help of self-respecting Irishmen can the murders and outrages by the so-called Irish Republican Army be ended, and giving instructions how to send letters containing information, so as not to be stopped in the post.

They invite those who are willing to help the cause of law and order to send information anonymously, and in disguised handwriting, to "Mr. D. W. Ross, Poste Restante, General Post Office, London," and offer a reward for valuable information.

The authorship of the posters is at present a complete mystery.

London, September 15.—Sir Ernest Clarke, Deputy Chief Inspector of Taxes in the Inland Revenue Department, who was recently knighted, has been appointed additional Assistant Under-Secretary for Ireland. This is the new post, recently announced, which will be concerned with Ulster affairs.

London, September 15.—Events in Ulster are moving swiftly towards the creation of Ulster's new Civil Guard. The Government's policy will be to place the restoration and preservation of order as far as possible in Irish hands.

In this connection, the Irish Times declares that the creation of this new force, which can be enrolled up to 100,000, is the only encouraging sign in the Irish situation, and it will go a long way towards averting the disaster which seemed inevitable last week.

London, Sept. 15.—Two cases of the military encountering hostile parties in Ireland, in which the latter came off second best, are reported today.

In one instance a determined attempt was made to intercept and ambush the military by cutting a trench across a road between Ailmi Hill and Knock in County Clare.

The troops, who were in a motor tender, spotted the obstruction in the course of their approach and opened fire on the ambushers. They wounded one and captured four others. There were no casualties amongst the military.

In the other case a patrol came into contact with a party, engaged in a midnight raid on the vacated constabulary barracks at Ballinlough, County Roscommon. The patrol opened fire and shot two of the raiders dead and wounded another, who was arrested but has since died.

Harding Supports Cummings' Measure

(Reuter's Service)

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Senator Warren Harding, addressing a delegation of railway workers here today, reaffirmed his support of the Cummings Act restoring the railroads to the owners. Senator Harding charged the railway workers with assuming control of the railroads.

The Wilson Administration, proceeded the Republican candidate for the presidency, had sought to promote a policy based on permanent Government operation of the railroads, and had the experiment proved a success, the administration would have favored retention of the railroads and other public utilities under government control. Senator Harding assailed what he described as the revolutionary plan "of some laborities to put the railroads at the disposal of the workers.

The delegation cheered both Seator Harding's denunciation of class rule and his praise of the provisions of the Cummings Act.

The main event of the day will be The Autumn Cup, the ninth race at a mile and a quarter for China ponies with a purse of $500. Seventeen entries have been posted for this event.

Following this meeting, the next will be the 69th of the International Recreation Club, also at Kiangwan when two days of racing will be held on Sept. 25 and 27, Saturday and Monday.

The usual special train and motor service to Kiangwan from the various garages will be supplied for today's meeting.

In The British Supreme Court

In the British Supreme Court yesterday, before Mr. G. W. King (Registrar), a claim was made by Lane, Crawford and Co., Ltd. for $97.80 in respect of goods supplied.

Mr. A. M. Preston, (of the legal firm of Ellis and Hays) appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. P. W. Goldring for the defendants.

A Chinese in Lane, Crawford and Co. gave evidence as to the goods being supplied on October 5, 1918 to Mr. White, who signed for the goods. The goods were sent to No. 24 Rue Pere Robert. The boy signed the receipt.

Mr. Lucas (recalled) was asked—From whom did you receive your instructions as to where to send the bill?

Witness—From Mrs. White.

From the lady?

Yes.

Mr. Lucas said that all the goods ordered, with the exception of $97.20 had been paid for.

Defendant in the box said he was an assistant in L. Moore and Co. On receipt of a letter from Mr. Levinson he made a call at Mr. Levinson's office to explain that he knew nothing about the account and to state that the lady in question was not his wife.

Witness denied being ever a resident at Rue du Consulat.

Counsel—Are you a beer drinker?

Witness—No.

Witness added that he always paid his accounts in cash. He never agreed to pay interest at the rate of 7 percent.

Cross-examined witness said he first came to Shanghai in 1916.

Counsel—Did you live alone?

Witness—Yes. When I arrived and I lived at the Astor House. After that we lived in Rue Rutard.

Counsel—Alone?

Witness—No.

Counsel—You mean you lived with the lady mentioned?

Witness—Yes.

Counsel—And you lived there with her?

Witness—Yes.

When did you leave?

Witness—I think about January, 1917.

How long did you really live with this lady?

Witness—I think it was up to May 18, 1919.

Counsel—Who paid the rent?

Witness—I paid the rent. I mean we put our money together and we paid the rent out of our own money.

Who ordered the purchase of necessaries:—It was this lady.

Who paid?

Well, I had to pay—Well, we had to pay between us.

Witness said he came up here to do business in 1916 as a broker and what he made as a broker he paid the balance.

Counsel—Did you live at 38 Kiangse Road?—No.

Did you ever live at 24 Route Pere Robert?—No, not 24, but 34.

Witness said he did not ever remember paying any accounts at the store in question.

Then if Lane Crawford and Co. say that they sent this shroff to your office they are not telling the truth?

Witness—I deny it. I used to give her cash to go up and pay for purchase she made.

Witness denied the item of two dozen beer.

Counsel—Does this lady drink beer?

Witness—No, but we have had beer in the house for friends.

Now what about the curtain?—I don't know anything at all about them.

Supposing they had been delivered to your house, you would not have paid for them?—No.

Witness denied that the house was run in the name of Mrs. F. W. White.

Counsel—What was her real name?

Witness—Mrs. Smith.

When she was living with you did she call herself Mrs. Smith?—No, she had her own name, and I had mine.

Re-examined—All the furniture and fittings belonged to her?

Witness—Yes, since May 18.

The Court—How exactly do you mean? When you left this lady she remained in the house?—Yes.

The Court—You left the house and left everything behind?—Yes, the whole thing.

Have you at any time heard of anybody going around as Mrs. F. W. White?—No.

Why do you defend this suit?—Because I know nothing about it. The lady is not my wife and she has no authority to order without my permission, and I knew nothing about it until I heard it from Mr. Levinson.

The Court held that the plaintiff must prove that this lady was defendant's wife. They had not done so, and there must be judgment for defendants.

LITHUANIANS AND POLES REQUESTED TO MEET LEAGUE

Council Desirous Of Hearing Both Sides Of Present International Fight

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 16.—The reports dealing with the position between the Poles and Lithuanians are vague and contradictory.

While one message states that negotiations have opened at Kalwarja, a communique from Warsaw reports that Lithuanian detachments, despite the armistice, suddenly attacked and dispersed the Polish garrison in the village of Sejny and advanced in a south-easterly direction.

From a third source, the Council of the League of Nations, it is announced that both governments have been invited to send delegates to Paris in order to submit their dispute at the Council's meeting to be held shortly.

London, September 15.—According to a semi-official message from Riga, the Russian delegates appointed to negotiate peace with the Poles have arrived there.

London, September 16.—Telegrams from Riga on the eve of the Russo-Polish peace negotiations state that M. Joffe, the head of the Soviet delegation, has made the ominous declaration in an interview that the Soviet intended to adhere to their original demand for the reduction of the Polish army, but that they could not guarantee disarmament on their part owing to the general international situation.

On this point the Poles have hitherto declared that they would only agree to disarmament if Russia would do the same.

Warsaw, Sept. 15.—Particulars of renewed Polish-Russian fighting, contained in the latest communique, show that the Poles have occupied Kovel, taking 3,000 prisoners and capturing 36 guns and a quantity of material, including two armored trains, four locomotives and three hundred trucks.

This and a neighboring success were obtained largely by an armored car detachment, which took a gorge by surprise and rendered escape from it impossible.

WOMEN TO BE SENT OUT FIRST FROM WAR AREA

(Reuter's Service)

Teheran, Sept. 15.—A British column from Persia should link up with the Bagdad column today near Shahraban, thus reopening communications between Persia and Mesopotamia. After the railway is cleared the first task will be to evacuate the women and children from Kerind.

The position at Kufa is less anxious than the position at Samawa, where rations are running out. The isolated garrison at Samawa numbers 450. A relief column is expected to start for this place from Nasiryeh a week hence.

The Cossacks are preparing a fresh advance, and have re-occupied the Imamzade-Hashim Pass across the Elburz Mountains.

INSURGENTS ACTIVE

London, Sept. 15.—The Mesopotamian insurgents, apparently realising the dangers lurking from blockhouses, are making them the object of attack before they reach full working order. Blockhouses on the railway near Babylon received their attention on the early morning of Sept. 12, according to a War Office communique, which further records considerable long-range sniping against our working parties engaged in the construction of blockhouses on the Faillujah railway.

The blockhouses have been completely manned from Abuhawa to Abujisra, on the Bagdad-Queritu line. The 34th Brigade column, which yesterday evening was reported as having gone from Shahraban to Abujisra, has now again advanced to the former place.

TRANSPORT DEPOT BURNED

London, Sept. 16.—A Daily Mail telegram reports that a huge mechanical transport depot at Bagdad was destroyed by fire on August 3. It contained a vast accumulation of tires, petrol and spares, and the damage is estimated at £3,000,000 the outbreak is believed to have been due to Arab incendiarism.

London, Sept. 15.—The India Office announces that Capt. Strachan has reached the military camp at Shahraban, with all the Indian servants who were captured by the insurgents, and has reported "all well."

Capt. Lloyd and Mrs. Buchanan, who were captured by the Arabs at the same time as Capt. Strachan have already been reported safe, and there are no others to be accounted for.

The $100,000 subscribed by Mr. Chiu Wei-ching is to be used in the province of Honan in accordance with his wish.

Money that is being subscribed here, and it is understood that all funds that may be given to end the famine elsewhere, will be expended under foreign supervisors acting jointly with Chinese administrators.

MINISTRY MOVES TO AID SUFFERERS

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, September 17.—The Ministry of Communications is devising means of putting as many cars as possible at the service of the famine relief workers and for the transportation of famine relief supplies.

Mr. Nathaniel Peffer left today for the famine district for the purpose of investigating conditions on behalf of the Red Cross Society and the newspapers.

RAIL ORDERS

The Ministry of Communications has decided that the responsibility for goods in railroad transit shall be replaced on senders' risk. This new regulation will come into force beginning the coming New Year. This is done in order to secure fuller service from the rolling stock. Generals Tsao Kun and Chang Tso-lin, the two war lords in the North, have been requested to cut their military requisitions down in order to release as many cars as possible to the famine service.

Earthquake Loss Less Than Reported

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, September 16.—It is semi-officially stated that the loss of life in the recent earthquake proves to have been 174, which is considerably less than was at first reported.

That the victims are not more numerous is mainly due to the fact that the mountainous zone affected is very thinly populated and the destruction wrought was limited to very small places, scattered over the countryside.

The Government's prompt measures have resulted in normal life being already resumed everywhere. The houses which were destroyed have been temporarily replaced by hutments.

News Brevities

According to the report filed with the Ministry of Commerce by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Chinese merchants in Shanghai suffered damages amounting to 316,500 roubles on account of the fall in the price of the Russian coin.

CHICAGO HURDLER OPENS WAY TO VICTORY OF AMERICANS AT ANTWERP GAMES, MAKING NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Ever-Nonchalant Frank Loomis Starts Scoring For Yankees By Winning 400-Meter Event—Story Is Given Of Events In Great International Contest

Antwerp, August 16.—By winning the 400-meter hurdle race in 54 seconds on the second day of the Olympic meet, thus creating a new world's record, the ever-nonchalant Frank Loomis, of the Chicago A. A., today started the American scoring machine, which henceforth promises to work faster than a cash register in a dairy lunch.

In the hurdles and 100-meter dash America collected 32 out of a possible 44 points, and even then they grudgingly permitted the rest of the world to take the remaining dozen points. Finland is second with 29 points. The next five nations follow: France, 6; England, 4; Sweden, 3; Esthonia, 2; Norway, 1.

The seventh Olympiad is now in full swing, every day offering a batch of classics any one of which is deserving of detailed consideration. Even the trials result in races worth going miles to see.

To Loomis falls the credit of scoring the first American point and breaking the first running record. Myra, of Finland, broke the first record of the meet yesterday when he set a new mark in the javelin throw.

STARS AND STRIPES HOISTED

When the Stars and Stripes were hoisted over the gate of the stadium the crowd of Americans, who easily outnumber all other visiting delegations, burst into thunderous applause. The yelling was so loud and long that it seemed to be a Yankee meeting instead of an international one.

Nothing will illustrate the quality of the American runners better than the simple statement that only one, Charles Hunter, has failed to qualify for the final of any event thus far contested. Even in the pentathlon, each four Americans won his heat in the 200-meter run.

Off to a good start, Loomis, who had the third lane, passed Georges Andre, the French champion, who ran in the fourth lane before half the distance was covered. The rangy Chicago youth barely skimmed the sticks, so perfect was his stride.

Running with machine-like precision, Loomis had a clear field in the last seventy yards, with Norton a few yards behind, and after clearing the last obstacle he raced Norton into submission with a great finishing sprint.

TRACK FIVE INCHES SHORT

It is believed that Norton ran under the old record and August Desch, who finished third, must have equaled the previous figures. Charles Daggs, who had the outside lane, was a poor last, having lost his stride twice.

When the track was measured after the race it was found to be five inches short, but the measurement was crudely made and will have to be done by an official surveyor. Had Loomis been running on Franklin Field at Philadelphia, he would have done even better than 54 seconds. He finished fresh and was scarcely breathing hard after his record-breaking performance.

The final of the 100-meter dash came just as darkness was about to settle over the huge stadium and it held the popular fancy of the crowd. It was as fine a field as ever faced a starter in a sprint race.

There was a hush over the stadium as the runners took their marks in the following order from the pole: Murchison, Kirksey, Paddock, Alikhan, Scholz and the English negro Edwards. Paddock satisfied his usual superstition by taking a final practice start and then touching wood twice.

When they crouched, the assistant starter told Paddock he had his hands over the line. There was an instant's hesitation and they were off, with Murchison perceptibly last.

At the half-way mark there seemed nothing to choose between Paddock and Scholz, with Edwards only inches behind. At sixty yards, Paddock drew clear of the field and Kirksey came with a great rush, passing Edwards and Scholz. It was almost impossible to place the last four men. The judges deliberated ten minutes before announcing the order of the finish.

There was less than a foot between the third and sixth man and great surprise was expressed when it was learned that Scholz had been placed fifth. Coach Moakley had expected Paddock to equal the world record, but he failed by one-fifth of a second. His time was 10 4-5 seconds.

The French protested the race and were supported by the British, on the ground that the starter gave the order to stand up and immediately thereafter fired the gun. They claim that Alikhan, Edwards and Murchison were unprepared and lost at least two yards. The race will not be re-run, but the starter may be replaced, as there has been general dissatisfaction with his work.

American Riders Get Third Place

Show Improvement In Play At Ostend And Defeat Belgian Polo Team By 13 To 3

Ostend, Belgium, July 28.—The American polo team defeated the Belgians, 13 to 3, in the Olympic contests this afternoon, rolling up a bigger score than the British team did against the Belgians on Monday, when the score was 8 to 3. The result gave the American riders third place.

The Belgians rode hard, but were decidedly outplayed in team work. The mallet skill of the Americans was much improved over that in the Sunday game against Spain, despite mediocre mounts.

The line-up of the Americans was as follows: No. 1, Captain Arthur Harrie; No. 2, Captain Terry Allen; No. 3, Colonel John C. Montgomery; back, Colonel Nelson E. Margett.

The game between the British and Spanish teams has been postponed until Saturday. Today's contest was played in fine weather, with a big attendance.

Yankee Riflemen Make Clean Sweep At Olympic Traps

Antwerp, July 24 (By The Associated Press).—America made a clean sweep today in the Olympic trap shooting, taking the first five places in the individual competition. Mark Airie, of Champaign, Ill., is the Olympic champion. He scored 95 out of a possible 100. Frank M. Troeh, of Vancouver, Wash., was second with 93.

Horace Bonser, Cincinnatti; Frank S. Wright, Buffalo, and Fred Plum, Atlantic City, tied for third.

Airie won with a sensational straight 10 at the finish, shooting at birds sprung at random from eight traps while Troeh, who was tied with him at 90, broke only eight of the last string.

The day's shooting was done in bad weather, with wind and rain and alternating sunshine.

Breaks World's Record At Antwerp

Frank F. Loomis, of the Chicago A. A., who set a world's record in winning the final of the 400 meter hurdle race at Antwerp. The American's time for the distance was 54 second flat, lowering by a full second the world's record made by C. Bacon, an American, in the London Olympics in 1908.

HANKOW LEADS WITH 3 POINTS IN BOWLS MATCH

Spirited Game Entertains Large Crowd Of Spectators At Official Competition

The Hankow Interporters got another win yesterday by defeating the Lawn Bowls Club four by 18 points to 15.

The green was very heavy due to the rain overnight and consequently play was rather erratic. Up to the sixth end play was very even, each side having scored thrice, but then Hankow got away and scored nine in four ends.

The L.B.C. replied with a three at the 11th.

After the tea interval the visitors scored three singles in succession then the homesters started and two singles made the score level at the 18th end.

Excitement now ran high and every bowl was closely watched but Hankow managed to secure the necessary odd one each end, and ran out winners by three shots.

As stated before the game was not particularly brilliant owing to the heavy state of the green, but after the Bowls Club drew level there was a series of thrills. Godwin cleverly drew the shot in the last end where their opponents were lying two which made all the difference in the result. Paul and Godwin played well for Hankow and Buckley shone for the Lawn Bowls Club.

Teams: Hankow: S. J. Godwin (skip), J. Paul, J. W. Burtwell, G. B. Miller 18.

HANKOW vs. JUNIOR GOLF

Today the Hankow Interport team will take a trip to Hongkew Park and try their luck with the Junior Golf Club. This should be a good game. Time 3 p.m. sharp Teams:

Junior Golf Club: J. Burnside (skip), G. B. Stormes, A. S. Allan W. S. Featherstonhaugh.

Hankow: J. Paul (skip), S. J. Godwin, J. W. Burtwell, G. B. V. Miller.

SHANGHAI vs. HONGKONG

The team selected to play for Shanghai against Hongkong on Monday is J. T. Disselduff (skip), R. C. Aitkenhead, D. McAlister and Geo. Dunlop.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paragoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of what to your children unless you or it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formulas of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."
N. B. SIMS, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Trevor Released In Jade Robbery Case; Will Face New Charge

Charges of attempted murder and robbery against Ernest Charles Trevor, who was arrested several days ago in connection with the attempt on the life of the Chinese curio dealer Woo Sing-faung, from whom $5,000 worth of jade jewels were stolen, yesterday were withdrawn by the police when the case was called before Magistrate King in the British Police Court.

Although another charge, that of selling fire arms was made at the same time, the accused was permitted to go free after giving bail bond in the sum of $100.

Trevor was arrested on the morning of September 10. The crime was committed on August 30 when Woo Sing-faung was shot down in Western Avenue after he had accompanied a supposed customer from his curio shop taking with him the packages of jewelry.

Trevor was defended yesterday morning by Mr. Goldring.

Mr. Faithful, appeared as Police Prosecutor.

LACK OF EVIDENCE

Mr. Faithful, immediately at the beginning of proceedings, informed the Court that he had advised the police that they had insufficient evidence to go on with and he had therefore to apply for a withdrawal of the charges, although the police had no doubt that Trevor was the guilty party.

Mr. King: Oh you must not say that unless you are prepared to prove it!

Mr. Goldring also protested against a most unjustifiable assertion.

Mr. King: Are you prepared to prove it Mr. Faithful?

Mr. Faithful: Unfortunately no. I should have said that the police were justified and had strong enough evidence to warrant arrest.

Continuing, Mr. Faithful said that although the police were withdrawing the two charges against accused they were preferring another one against him.

The new charge is that accused, on divers dates and places within the Settlement, did sell firearms without a licence in contravention of the By-Laws governing the sale of arms.

Mr. King: It is a remarkable drop from a charge of attempted murder.

ADMITS SELLING ARMS

Mr. Goldring: I am representing accused in this case also and he pleads "Guilty." He admits selling firearms.

At this stage accused was discharged on the charges of attempted murder and robbery.

Mr. King remarked that he had but recently been impressed with a case tried in the Supreme Court in England in which a man had been accused of murder and the charge withdrawn, but another charge of an entirely different nature, and not in the remotest degree associated with the original charge, brought against the prisoner. The judges had commented very strongly on the case.

Mr. Goldring: This certainly does appear to me to be vindictive.

The court asked if the prosecution was prepared to go on with the case.

Mr. Faithful answered in the negative but said he would be ready tomorrow.

This could not be arranged to fit in with the Court calender and the case was set down for 10 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Goldring applied for accused to be admitted to bail on his own recognisances.

Mr. King: But he is discharged.

Counsel said he referred to the new charge.

LAWYERS' FEES

The Magistrate asked if the Prosecutor wanted the accused to be bound over.

Prisoner: Your worship, I have been in prison for a week already and have paid lawyers expenses on a charge I know nothing about.

Mr. Faithful contended that accused should be bound over. The police did not know whether he would run away or not. He had no fixed abode and had been in the Settlement three months living at one place or another.

Prisoner: I am not destitute. I have got some means and can go to a Hotel.

Mr. King: I cannot understand why accused should appear here on a warrant. An infringement of By-Laws is always dealt with by a summons.

Mr. Faithful: In this case the police have urgent reasons for dealing with it by warrant.

Mr. Goldring undertook to produce accused on Monday.

After further argument the court decided to release accused on bail, binding him over in the sum of $100 to appear on Monday morning.

Reception Is Held At Lobingier Home

Delegates to the Sunday School Workers' Convention that is to be held shortly in Tokio, numbering thirty-odd, now passing through Shanghai were pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles S. Mrs. Lobingier returned to Shanghai Wednesday after an absence of a year and on the voyage across the Pacific on the Pacific Mail liner Colombia she was with the party of delegates to the Sunday School meeting.

Greetings were again given to the travelers at the gathering in the Lobingier home where refreshments of tea, coffee, cakes and sweets were served. The delegates are leaving today for Nanking on their way to Peking whence they will go north through Korea and on to Tokio for the convention.

Siam Treaty Is Being Prepared

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 15.—The newspapers state that the Foreign Office is at present negotiating with a Siamese plenipotentiary in regard to a treaty of considerable economic importance, including the fixing of the frontiers of Siam and the Laos States, the conclusion of commercial agreements, and finally, the determination of the conditions for the construction of a railway linking up Saigon with Bangkok, and consequently India. A definite result is imminent of these pourparlers, which have lasted for several months.

Cotton Market

Messrs. J. Spunt and Co. write as follows in their report dated September 18:

China Cotton.—Although there have been from time to time half-hearted attempts to infuse a degree of activity into the situation, the market during the past week has been dull and prices have fluctuated within a range of a couple mace and remain at the close at the same level as that reported last week with a fairly steady undertone.

While the damage done to the new season crop in the districts referred to in our last circular cannot be said to be of a serious nature yet the unfavorable weather which is still persistent is in no way encouraging a happy outlook for the picking season and if the situation is not soon alleviated by prolonged sunny and dry weather the expectations are more for a preponderance of an inferior outturn than otherwise would have been the case.

The Reports from Hupeh and Shansi are at this time not very gratifying.

Under existing conditions therefore it would be too presumptuous to predict one way or the other as to the trend of the market in the immediate future owing to a great deal depending on climatic developments favorable or otherwise to the Cotton plant in the present stage. Tone of the market Steady.

If you use

Kolynos Tooth Paste

daily—it is impossible for your teeth to collect "so-called" film or your mouth to become over-acid. We claim no "secret process" with Kolynos. What we do claim is that your teeth under the care of Kolynos will become CLEAN—Just as clean as an ivory knife handle.

WHITE—Just as white as Nature intended them to be. We use no bleaching chemicals.

FREE FROM DECAY—Because a clean tooth does not decay.

Do not be led away by tooth pastes which advertise themselves as "bleachers" or "solvents." Teeth can only be cleaned in the old-time rational way—with a good tooth brush and a sensible tooth paste which cleans and polishes, and leaves your teeth what they should be—just clean.

Mr. Sindeband Improves

MR. F. A. Sindeband, whose interesting letter we published the other day, has written us another one, his second effort in the line of writing for the public press, and we cheerfully proclaim the fact that it presents a much stronger argument than his first one did. It is so lengthy that it leaves us no space for reply today but we shall not fail to fall upon it later on. We must merely content ourselves today with pointing out that in reading his letter you will find that he first condemns the League of Nations, then declares that no League of Nations ever will prevent war and then calls upon us to wait until the world has settled down to peace before forming a League of Nations. How do they get that way? But here's his letter and it presents a very interesting, well-built-up argument showing very clearly what is going on in the minds of many Americans:

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: With reference to your comments on my previous letter, I desire to again take issue with your statement that during the summer of 1919 the American People were in favor of the League by a majority of 9 to 1 I recall the time when the Democratic Press reported that the American People were in favor of 16 to 1, but not 9 to 1.

Assuming for the sake of argument that during the summer of 1919 the American People were in favor of the League by 9 to 1 which almost any American would doubt since such a preponderance of public opinion would have forced the ratifying of the Peace Treaty at its first reading, still that is no criterion as to how the people stand today, and the League is an issue of today and not one of last summer. I think you will agree with me that the American people generally had little or no interest in the League until its defects were shown.

Even the Democratic Party are not putting up a unified front on this issue. President Wilson wants the League put through without even "The dotting of an I or crossing of a T." Governor Cox is willing to accept the League with mild reservations although he does not come out flat-footed and say how mild the reservations should be. He does not commit himself as to whether they should be "Soft Boiled Medium or Hard." Senator Reed, Walsh and about 40 per cent of the other Democratic Senators, at present in office and who supported the Lodge Reservations, insist that in this form only will they support the League. And now comes Mr. George White Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who claims that the League is a secondary issue of the Cox campaign. I enclose clipping from the New York Times of July 20 along this line, which will bear me out in this respect.

The situation is unique in the history of American Politics. Here we have a Political Party trying to make a decisive issue of a question on which they, themselves, are divided. "A house divided against itself cannot stand." Maine, the first state to have the chance to express itself clearly on this issue, has turned the League down, contrary, I believe, to the statement of THE CHINA PRESS that "The American People were in favor of it by a majority of 9 to 1" last summer, or any other summer.

The President's action in vetoing the League as presented by Congress and containing the Lodge Reservations, together with his insistence on the text of the League as originally written certainly served to dull interest on the part of the American People in the issue. The issue as it now stands and as presented by the Democratic Party amounts to a question as to whether or not President Wilson had the moral right to reject the League of Nations because he could not secure the ratification of one or more of his own ideas as against the unquestioned experience and knowledge of more practical statesmen.

I believe that the American People as a whole, when the issue was first brought out, would have been glad to sanction the League with reservations on Article 10. I am firmly convinced that the great majority of the American People are now actually against President Wilson for his action in destroying the League, simply because he could not obtain sanction of his ideas as represented in Article 10. It is a significant fact that England and France were willing to accept the League with reservations and they certainly would not have been willing to accept it had the Lodge Reservations nullified the Treaty. I am also of the opinion that in maintaining his course of "original League or none" in his second rejection of the League Covenant as presented by Congress President Wilson has made the American People tired of the League question as a whole.

With reference to the LODGE RESERVATIONS, you state that President Wilson refused to sanction these as they would nullify the League. In the first place these reservations would not nullify the League, but serve to safeguard the traditional policies of America, as well as American interests. I desire to call your attention to the fact that Congress (that is to say the majority of the men in Congress) were in favor of the reservations. President Wilson happens to be a minority candidate, figuring his election by popular vote, and takes it for granted, as in the League of Nations issue, that the minority should rule.

If the majority of the people of the United States see fit to elect a Republican Congress and Senate, despite the personal appeal of President Wilson to them to return a Democratic House, it appears to the writer, as well as it should appear to anyone believing in majority rule, that the wishes of the people should be respected. It is on majority rule that our Constitution and Government is founded. The Lodge Reservations may nullify certain clauses in the League of Nations as originally constructed, but on the other hand they safeguard American interests for the generations that are to come. Are the glorious principles for which Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt fought and bled to perish because one man sees fit to have a League of Nations despite the wishes of the majority of the American People?

You speak of Mr. Wilson favoring the mild reservations as outlined in the last Democratic Convention at San Francisco. Will you please state what these mild reservations were? Also, can you tell the reason why a good many level headed Democratic Congressmen and Senators favor the Lodge Reservations?

It appears to the writer that the League will not and properly should not be the issue in the present election and in my humble opinion the people have already expressed themselves on this issue by turning down the request of the Administration to return a Democratic Congress and Senate and returning instead a Republican majority in both houses. Permit me to quote extracts from an address delivered by Senator Weeks on this issue.

"President Wilson went to Europe, assuring the people of Europe that he represented the United States and the sentiment of our people; in other words that he had a mandate from America which demanded that a League of Nations should be formed. Of course, the President knew when he gave this assurance that the recent elections in this country had been antagonistic to him, and had our Government been organised as are the Governments of France and England, this would have meant his immediate retirement. Is Republican propaganda responsible for this?

"Republican propagandists have done a remarkable piece of work, I agree, but it has not been done to sacrifice the interests of the United States, but to protect them. Not done to delay peace, but to make a sensible and lasting peace. Not done to destroy the confidence of our people in the Government, but to call their attention to the fatal mistakes being made by that Government at the expense of the people. Not done to weaken our influence abroad, but to give foreign governments reasons why the proposed League should not be ratified.

"No injustice has been done the President by the criticisms that have been made of his conduct of the Government. Can they object to his being called arbitrary, and to the charge of a one man government, when it is known that he has withdrawn himself from contact with the public, and insisted that his own wishes should be followed, without taking advice or heeding counsel from his constitutional advisers, the United States Senate? More than that the President is responsible for the failure to ratify the Peace Treaty, with the reservations that have been agreed to by the majority of the Senate, as he refused to allow his partisans in the Senate to vote for its ratification."

I desire also to call your attention to the fact that President Wilson made the trip to Europe against the wishes of the American People, the American Press and the Democratic Party. I call your attention to the issues of the New York Times and the New York World on this subject, two of the leading newspapers in the Wilson fold and they will bear me out in this respect.

Permit me to again quote an extract from an address delivered by Senator Frelinghausen:

"In refusing to consent to the Treaty and proposed plan of the League of Nations the Senators of the United States were acting within their constitutional powers and duties. After calm and deliberate consideration in open session, in which no detail was held from the American People, they gave their decision. It was the hard-panned judgment of the Senate that the only safe plan for America to pursue was to ratify the treaty with the Lodge Reservations protecting every American right.

"In this sensible and sane form the Senate amended the League of Nations Covenant and voted, by a majority, for ratification. Fully half of the Democrats of the Senate voted with the Republican Senators for ratification in the Americanised form.

"The preposterous program of a League of Nations as negotiated by the President in secret after proclaiming a policy of open covenants openly arrived at was invisible government, in my opinion, of the most pronounced form. It was a secret covenant negotiated by him with a little group of Ministers. The records of their conference were concealed and withheld from the Senate and the people of the United States. It was this secret covenant which was obnoxious to the Senate, who refused to ratify it in the form it was presented.

"President Wilson believes the Treaty should be ratified without any reservations. If Mr. Cox believes Mr. Wilson's theories, he favors perpetuating hereditary power. If he believes that the covenant of the League of Nations should be ratified with reservations, he is endorsing the plank of the majority of the American Congress."

As regards the Johnson interpretation of the League, I will say that I am a great admirer of Hirman Johnson and am proud of the fact. We in America today should thank the Almighty for the existence of such men as Hiram Johnson, Senator Lodge, Senator Borah and several other men who have the interests of America at heart. We can today see clearly the result of our Altruistic efforts in Europe.

You say that Mr. Wilson did not break any promises and that he went through with his fourteen points as originally written. Will you please enumerate the points, numerically, as fulfilled by him. How many did he fulfill. The Italians are still in possession of Fiume. The Japanese are still in possession of Shantung and civil warfare still reigns in Europe. In our own country we have had more industrial troubles since the Armistice than in the entire history of America and this in spite of Samuel Gompers' support of the administration. Look at our Rail-Roads, Telephones, Telegraph Services and other Public Utilities which the Government took over. Look at the Mexican Muddle! What a state of CHAOS, and still you say that conditions in our country are secondary to those in Europe. Let America go to the Dogs, all that matters is that President Wilson shall have his League of Nations.

America has kept the peace of the Western Hemisphere since the Monroe Doctrine went into effect. The League wants to nullify this Doctrine. Why should we accept another country's version as to how we shall interpret the Monroe Doctrine.

Let me repeat the historical fact that the League of Nations is not a new idea. It has been tried out several times under different names and with what success? China 2,000 years ago advocated it. Alexander the Great tried it. The Holy Alliance was in fact supposed to be a League of Nations. The Alliance between various nations prior to the war was built along the same lines. The Hague Tribunal was but another name of the League of Nations.

You speak of 34 small nations desiring and accepting it. So did they accept the Hague Tribunal. We all know what voice the small nations had at the Hague Tribunal. They were controlled by the Big Powers and they would be controlled in the same manner in the present League of Nations. There is nothing binding in this League. Any nation can withdraw if it sees fit by giving due notice. Do you imagine for one moment that if it suited the policy of England, America, or France, or any other nation of importance, to withdraw, that this League could exist? It would tumble like a house built of cards. The Powers that be have always tried to shape the destiny of the Small Nations and that is the fundamental cause of wars and the underlying reason for designating Treaties as "scraps of paper."

The League of Nations is practically in existence today and what do we see? Powers making new treaties with each other along defensive lines. We still see stupendous expenditures for Naval and Military preparations, for what future wars? There will be wars so long as the human race exists and the more civilisation and science make headway, the more deadly and more terrible will the wars of the future be. This League of Nations, nor any other kind of League will not stop wars; of this you can be sure. As long as individuals, as well as nations, worship the Almighty Dollar, Pound Sterling, Tael, Franc, Lire, etc., will there be wars. The God of Modern civilisation, if we are to believe Biblical History, was betrayed for the price of a few shekels.

What is the use of rushing into a League that is faulty and putting up a faulty foundation, if, after the building is up, it is to be condemned and have to be rebuilt. It simply means that the work and effort is for naught. Let us wait until the world is settled down in peace, till the blood-lust has abated, and then and only then let the world try to get some solution along sane lines that will do justice to both large and small nations. This solution must take into account and provide for the true self-determination of nations and peoples. The League of Nations as proposed by President Wilson will not do it, that is certain.

The writer feels sure that if the Editor of THE CHINA PRESS would look at this issue with an open mind and not along partisan lines, he must eventually reach the same conclusions.

Yours very truly,
F. A. SINDEBAND.

In Memoriam

WILLIAM C. GORGAS
(Late Surgeon General, U.S.A.)

I saw him borne through the city
Wrapped in his honor shroud,
The flag that he left as sunshine
Where the souls of men had bowed,
Weighted down with terror
Bred by the fever-cloud.

He, who with clear eyes shining
Wrestled with horror's spell,
Who pitched his lone headquarters
In the outer lands of Hell,
Knew many things that beggared
Clean death by bursting shell.

To others pomp and clamor,
To him a mild acclaim;
Theirs is the flaunting glory,
His is a gentler fame;
But the faces of mothers smiling
Are stars for the Gorgas name.

And the sound of mothers praying,
Glad that their sons draw breath,
Will hover above and bless him,
The green sod underneath;
Yea, mothers of men are his mourners:
A soldier of life, not death.

PLEASE SHOOT LENGTHWISE

"A regiment of Rhode Island National Guardsmen," says an exchange, "were holding rifle target practice within the confines of their native State the smallest state in the union—early in the recent war. When the range was hiked to 1,000, an inaccurate doughboy shot high and killed a cow that was placidly grazing in the neighboring State of Massachusetts. The owner of the cow was very decent when he filed his bill of complaint, which eventually came to the official notice of the Rhode Island Adjutant-General. He wrote: 'I am glad to see that you boys in Rhode Island are indulging in the patriotic practice of rifle shooting. But for the sake of the rest of my live stock I would request that hereafter you please shoot lengthwise in your State.'"

Arthur Henderson Describes Aims Of British Labor

By Arthur Henderson, M. P.
(The Famous British Labor Leader)

The Labor party is admittedly rising steadily to a position of political ascendency in Great Britain. The chief reason for this is that it is more truly representative of the spirit of the times than either of the other political parties. It has a more intimate and sympathetic understanding of the aspirations of those who are responsible, whether by brain work or manual labor, for the material prosperity of the nation. In its comprehensive program of reconstruction it has provided a practical policy which aims at translating those popular aspirations into realities.

The ultimate aim of the Labor party is a reconstructed system of society founded upon the widest possible form of democracy, and in which all members will co-operate in fruitful service in order to provide for every member of society an opportunity to enjoy that fullness and richness of life which is the rightful ambition, and should be the rightful inheritance, of every citizen.

GRADUATED TAX URGED

The Labor party proposes a graduated tax on capital—which will not affect small capital holdings—as the only means whereby a drastic reduction of our national financial burden can be secured within a few years. With regard to the principals of taxation, Labor is opposed to all forms of indirect taxation, and proposes that all revenue should be raised by direct taxation on the basis of ability to pay. Thus the incidence of all taxes would be clearly understood by taxpayer. The tea duty, the excess profits duty, and other similar taxes are in effect indirect taxes which fall ultimately upon the community, and they are in contradiction to the principle of taxation in accordance with ability to pay.

As a first step in the reorganisation of industry we advocate the elimination of private ownership from the staple industries and services of the nation, such as coal, transport, electricity and shipping, in order to secure that they shall be operated not for private profit, but for the benefit of the whole community.

There is no question of confiscating privately owned enterprises; they would be taken over by the State on fair terms, and would be worked under a system of joint control, which would provide the workers with a higher status in their industry than they enjoy under private enterprise, and make them real partners with the State in the control of their industry. It is only by such a system of democratic control that bureaucratic control, with all its devitalising effects, can be avoided.

Labor's conception of Imperial policy is that the British Empire should be a commonwealth of self-governing nations, resting upon the principle of government by consent, with full right to self-determination. The recognition of the right to self-determination must be recognised equally in the case of Ireland as in the case of Canada or Australia.

Making A God Of Doing Things

(New York American)

One of the many foreigners who delight to "see America" and tell the home folk their impressions has just eased his mind in the Frankfurter Zeitung, most liberal of German newspapers.

Continental Europe long has belived Americans dollar mad. Our superior prosperity is regarded as convincing proof. This observer sees deeper. He writes:

"Nothing is more false than to speak of the United States as the land of dollars and its people as dollar chasers. They make a god of doing things. Gold is only a pleasant incident."

Few really big and useful things can be done well without bringing money in as reward. The superior artist, writer, preacher, teacher, surgeon, engineer, worker of any sort, is sought by those who would benefit by his skill. Their bidding fixes his price.

So in America the leaders in individual effort usually command incomes higher than elsewhere. Money is the most convenient measure of their success.

When a leader successfully guides others in a collective task he, too, finds the same rule at work. The peanut vender who evolves into a merchant prince becomes rich because he has succeeded. He could not hold his associates together if the store made no profit.

Of course, here as elsewhere some men go money-mad. But they are never the successful men. No madman can be truly successful.

It is not greatly important, but it is pleasant, that mid-Europe should know the truth about its wrong concepts of Americans.

Story Hour Joys At The Libraries

The proverbial book might be written from the information and impressions on child psychology amassed by the children's story hour workers of the New York Public Library.

"I have about eighty or ninety girls doing this work throughout the city in the season," said Miss Anna C. Tyler recently, "here and in the various branches. These story tellers are all librarians and the work is all done as part of their library duties and on their regular schedule. The amount of story-telling work done by a librarian depends upon the number of story tellers in the branch. In some branches there are as many as four or five. In others there is only one. The work is carried on less regularly here than at any of the branches where it is undertaken. But it is most interesting here."

That the children of the busy poor are not the only ones who cannot gather around a mother's knee and listen to the reading or telling of stories was emphasised by Miss Tyler, as she told of the very definite need for the story hours among the children of the well-to-do.

"We have perhaps the best example of that right here," she said, referring to the big library at Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue. "You would be surprised to find how many children of the rich are coming to the story hours and getting what they cannot get at home."

The groups average from forty to one hundred and include all classes of children, from the very poor little ones from the far West Side to beautifully turned out kiddies from private houses, expensive apartments and hotels nearer the library and to the east of it.

But, intensely interesting and diversified as is the story hour at the big library, the real work of the story hour staff is done at the library's many branches, where the children of the district are taken care of.

CHILDREN INTERESTED

Story-hour workers vary greatly in all characteristics; some are young and charming, others are older and more experienced, but all must have one quality—the ability to meet the child on his or her own ground. They must possess some fiber that vibrates in sympathy with the mind of the child. Women of the latter type are often the most successful.

In a library of the Rivington tenement district such a woman is seated, and grouped around her are about fifty of the neighborhood's children. She is telling a story, and breathless interest holds her audience. Gone are the soiled dresses, the wrinkled, knee-holed stockings and the broken shoes. A tiny mite delicately fingers smooth cloth of gold all sewn with pearls, forgetting the fold of dirty cotton held between finger and thumb. She is Cinderella for the nonce, and it is the night of the second ball—and—so forth. Study the story teller a moment. Her voice as she tells the story has few modulations, but she talks easily and simply, eliminating the excessive emphasis which would destroy the effect for the children. She is not very young, yet she is not old, and her prematurely white hair suggests some experience of the sort which creates understanding. The work of this story teller is particularly praised. It is said that she possesses some characteristic which puts her into immediate and close contact with her child audiences and which holds their full attention. The briefest conversation with her brings out the intense interest and sympathy which she feels for the children.

Most of the children have little low stools, although a few use chairs, and the story teller sits in the center of the group, which numbers about forty in the ideal story hour.

The groups may be roughly divided into, first, the picture book story hour, which takes in the little ones from about 4 to 6 years. A certain number of big picture books are spread out on one of the tables. The work is all prepared, in spite of the fact that it appears so spontaneous. The children are encouraged to talk and ask for their special favoritesafter the story is read. Then the picture books are turned over to them.

THEY ABSORB THE STORIES

"They learn, even the little ones of 4 or 5," according to Miss Tyler, "a lot more than the stories of the pictured tale. They absorb unconsciously something of the principles of the proper private use of public property, and what they learn at that tender age is well learned and will remain with them."

The second group is made up of children from about 6 to 10 years of age. The questions come spontaneously from such groups, after the story is told. This is the great fairy tale age, 6 to 10. These stories can be told as they are, but it has been found that simple dramatic genius is needed to get the children's attention and hold it. Above all things, there must be sincerity both in the story and in the story-teller. Children hate affection, and respond immediately to sincerity. Moreover, children have an unerring instinct for insincerity and will detect it at once.

Sometimes the poor little rich girl is brought by her governess to the story hour, and, according to custom, would remain with her, but this is not encouraged, as it is a children's atmosphere and the governess belongs with the grown-ups. So she is rather influenced to call later for her small charge.

The story hour children are always well-behaved and no trouble is ever encountered, it is said, in handling them. Speaking of the inherent dignity of the child, Miss Tyler emphasised the audience's invariable good behavior. Only promptness in coming and full attention to the story until it has been told are required. The children are very receptive and it is considered a pity that they cannot have a story hour at home every day.

Among the very poor the ceaseless grind of existence interferes, and movies, social affairs, politics and other interests claim the attention of many women in increasingly richer circumstances as in the sequence mentioned.

HOBBLEDEHOYS ALSO

"The second group of the story hour proper is for the hobbledehoys of 10 to 12," said Miss Tyler, "the children who will ask six questions to the minute, know far more than you could possibly tell them if you knew ever so much, who hate so to be patronised and who are very sensitive. They have not entirely outgrown fairy tales and George Macdonald's 'Princess and Curdie' and 'The Little Princess,' as well as Frank Stockton's 'The Old Pipes and the Briar,' the legends of King Arthur, Roland and Baerwolf are among their chief delights, as well as tales from the old Greek and Norse mythology."

Romances, detective stories and poetry are most popular with the older children, who consider that they are too old to go to the story hours, although they like to listen to stories. These children form the library reading clubs. From individual lists of favorite books and authors, a small condensed list was compiled. Girls and boys from 13 to 18 years old make up these clubs. Alfred Tennyson's "Enoch Arden," Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire," Frank Stockton's "The Casting Away of Mrs. Lecks and Mrs. Aleshine" meet Stevenson's "The Bottle Imp," Walter Scott's "Rob Roy," "The Flower of Old Japan" from the collected poems of Alfred Noyes, "The Brushwood Boy," by Rudyard Kipling; "The Prisoner of Zenda," by Anthony Hope; "The Green Flag," by Conan Doyle, and "Cranford," by Mrs. E. C. S. Gaskell, in a very catholic list.

There are about eighty of these club and story hours in the branch libraries of the city. The story-hour circle is recruited from children who come to take out books. A little notice posted giving the day and the hour serves to assemble them.

ONE FOR GROWNUPS

While the regular story-hour session is from October to May, the Hamilton Fish Park Branch, on the extreme east side, has been having a Summer session story-hour series on the library's roof. This is for grownups of both sexes and the young people of the neighborhood are encouraged to come, although little children are not desired. Miss Tyler confirmed the opinion of other librarians as to the very high average of literary taste among New York's foreign born population.

"When I have a good bit of literature to read or tell," she said, "I take it down to the crowded east side, and I am sure of an appreciative audience, which never fails me. I am not so sure elsewhere.

The total attendance at the libraries' story hours and reading clubs for 1919 was 43,000, the total number of groups being 1,823. This work is all under the direction of Miss Tyler, who is supervisor of story telling for the entire city.

Miss L. St. J. Powers, in the children's room of the main library, is one of the story tellers.

"The children represent widely different social standing, different nationalities and home background, and yet they are all the same in the story hour," said Miss Powers. "We have had very exceptional children here. I told a Norwegian story once and a little Norwegian boy who was present just added some details, by way of local color—but not realising that he was doing that. He just told how his mother used to do this and that, carrying out the action of the story. It makes the story hour intensely interesting to have such a thing happen.

"On another occasion a very little French boy showed that he had the most original ideas. A discussion had been started as to the existence of fairies and he carried the argument to quite a length for such a little body. The boy was the son of a brilliant scholar and scientist and already showed signs of having a scientific mind."

CHILDREN'S READING ROOM

This children's reading room is the largest in the city, and it is also very beautiful. It is used by about 2,000 children a month and houses the largest reference collection of book for children in the country. On entering the child faces a semi-circular desk, and, turning to the left, is in the circulating department. Books are assembled on low shelves running continuously around the room, and on the walls hang large framed originals by Wyeth of illustrations made for Jules Verne's "Mysterious Island." These brilliantly colored pictures have been loaned by the publishers and in time will be replaced by other loaned originals.

Coming out of the circulating department, past the big central desk, the visitor is in a central section, where early children's books and framed illustrations fill the wall space. There is one of the very old chap-books made with a handle of wood and a quaint book, whose title page bears the following: "The Courtship and Marriage of Lord Bluebottle and Miss Ladybird."

Ralph Caldecott and Kate Greenaway and other old favorities among illustrators hold sway here. The birthdays of famous illustrators of children's books are celebrated here—that of Ralph Caldecott, for instance. A bowl of flowers and full display of all the books from cases and shelves, containing the particular illustrator's drawings, and the children have a great time and remember it as a treat.

The big room at the right is the children's reading room. Here are more pictures on the walls, hung over the low shelves that skirt the room, and many low tables, round and square, surrounded by chairs that are reminiscent of Walter Crane's pictures of the furniture of the House of the Three Bears.

The library prides itself on some of the children's books on these shelves. Among the most used of the big books are some French editions—"History of France" and "Bonaparte," by G. Montorqueil with pictures by "Job;" "Joan of Arc," with pictures by Boutet de Monvel, and some soft, flappy books printed on glazed linen—the leaves of which may be washed.

A REMEMBERED VISIT

Lord Dunsany's visit is still remembered with enthusiasm and his delight at these volumes. He was greatly interested in a framed illustration from one of Leslie Brooke's books, and the librarian later sent him a copy of the picture. There are more modern picture books like Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verse." Hans Christian Anderson is here, too, and Russian, Danish and Swedish picture books for children. Several extremely handsome volumes are filled with illustrations, the originals of which are said to have been drawn for the Tsar's children. These books are very rare. The large illustrations have proved a perfect magnet for theatrical folk, movie people and artists. The latter have found the many decorations in the books also of value in their work. The titles are intriguing. Who would not be interested in the story of "Vasilisa the Beautiful?"

Another center takes shape between the Loochoos and Guam, and a third one in our Valley, between Kiukiang and Wenchow. Variable breezes with calms along our coasts. Rain here and along the River; heavy showers towards the evening. Fine weather at Formosa.

17.—The showers continue during the night, with NE winds increasing in little squalls. The pressure is but little affected yet by the depression.
